

AN AUSTIN BACKYARD IDEA BOOK

Your backyard, built around you.

Real projects we've built around Austin, ideas for your own space, and how to get from "someday" to the first evening outside.

✿ Includes Texas bluebonnet seeds to plant this fall

OUTDOOR LIVING

The best room in the house might be outside.

Coffee on the porch before the heat. Dinner outside in October. A screened room where the kids can be loud and the mosquitoes can't get in. In Austin, a good outdoor room gets used most of the year.

Cedar pavilion with privacy screen at golden hour, built by JB Contracting ATX.

PERGOLAS, PAVILIONS & PATIO COVERS

Shade that makes July livable.

Most Austin backyards don't need more space. They need shade. A pavilion by the pool, a covered patio with a ceiling fan, a cedar pergola with string lights: suddenly the yard you already have becomes the place everyone ends up.

> "We build it to match your house and your HOA, so it looks like it was always meant to be there."

FENCES & DECKS

Privacy, curb appeal, and room to spread out.

A straight cedar fence makes a yard feel like yours, keeps the dog in, and is the first thing people notice from the street. A deck turns a slope or a bare patch of grass into somewhere to actually sit.

Horizontal stained cedar, split rail with stone posts, a covered deck with a view, and a wraparound porch. All JB builds.

WHY IT'S WORTH IT

Better to live with.
Better when you sell.

More living space, no addition

A covered patio or deck works like an extra room for most of the year here, for far less than adding square footage inside.

The listing photo buyers remember

Buyers picture themselves out back. A finished outdoor space and a fresh fence photograph well and show well.

One of the smarter projects for resale

Decks and outdoor living tend to return more of their cost at sale than most big interior remodels, and you enjoy them every year until then.

Privacy and peace

A place for the dogs to run, the kids to play, and you to sit outside without the whole street watching.

How a JB project works

1

John visits

He walks your yard himself and listens to what you want.

2

Clear quote

Free and line-itemed, so you see exactly what you're paying for.

3

Paperwork

We prepare the HOA packet and pull the permit.

4

The build

Our crew builds it right, on footings made for our soil.

5

Walkthrough

We walk it with you before we call it done.

A LITTLE SOMETHING FOR YOUR YARD

Plant your bluebonnets this fall.

1. Plant in October or November. They grow through winter and bloom in spring.
2. Soak the seeds overnight in warm water to soften the hard coat.
3. Pick full sun and soil that drains. They like our rocky ground just fine.
4. Press them in lightly, about 1/8 inch deep, and keep the soil damp for a few weeks.
5. Then leave them be. Look for blue in March and April, and let them go to seed for next year.
